AQUA DE MAGNOLIA.—The prettiest thing, the "sweetest thing," and the most of it for the least money. It over comes the odor of perspiration; softens and adds delicacy to the skin; is a delightful perfume; allays headache and inflammation, and is a necessary companion in the sick-room, in the nursery, and upon the toilet sideboard. It can be obtained everywhere at one dollar per bottle.

S. T.—1860.—X.—The amount of Plantation Bitters sold in one year is something startling. They would fill Broadway six feet high, from the Park to 4th street.—Drake's manufactory is one of the institutions of N. York. It is said that Drake painted all the rocks in the eastern States with his cabalistic "S. T.—1860.—X," and then got the old granny legislators to pass a law "preventing disfiguring the face of nature," which gives him a monopoly We do not know how this is, but we do know the Plantation Bitters sell as no other article ever did. They are used by all classes of the community, and are death on Dyspepsia—certain. They are very invigorating when languid and weak, and a great appetizer.

"In lifting the kettle from the fire I scalded myself very severely—one hand almost to a crisp. The torture was unbearable. * * * The Mexican Mustang Liniment relieved the pain almost immediately. It heals rapidly, and left very little scar.

CHAS. FOSTER, 420 Broad st., Philada."

This is merely a sample of what the Mustang Liniment will do. It is invaluable in all cases of wounds, swellings, sprains, cuts, bruises, spavins, etc., either upon man or beast.

Beware of counterfeits. None is genuine unless wrapped in fine steel plate engravings, bearing the signature of G. W. Westbrook, Chemist, and the private stamp of DEMAS BARNES & Co., New York.

All who value a beautiful head of hair, and its preserva tion from premature baldness and turning gray, will not fail to use Lyon's celebrated Kathairon. It makes the hair rich, soft and glossy, eradicates dandruff, and causes the hair to grow with luxuriant beauty. It is sold everywhere. E. THOMAS LYON, Chemist, N. Y.

WHAT DID IT?—A young lady, returning to her country home after a sojourn of a few months in New York, was hardly recognized by her friends. In place of a rustic, flushed face, she had a soft, ruby complexion, of almost marble smoothness; and instead of 22, she really appeared but 17. She told them plainly she used Hagan's Magnolia Balm, and would not be without it. Any lady can improve her personal appearance very much by using this article. It can be ordered of any Druggist for only 50 cents.

WATER IS BEST.

Water is best for the trees of the forest,
Water is best for the flowers of the field;
Streams from the fountain are flowing in beauty,
Purest of pleasures forever they yield.

Water is best for the rich and the mighty,
Water is best for the humblest that toil;
Children and fathers may drink from the fountain,
Flowing forever to gladden the soil.

Soon may the drunkard remember his folly,
Striving and trusting in God, like a man;
Soon may Hosannas be heard in the valley,
Offered to God for the abstinence plan.

Emblem of purity, truth, and of freedom,
Still let me love thee, and still be thou mine!
Gliding in streamlet, and rolling in ocean,
Telling of God, ever-glorious, divine.

—Temperance Chimes.

Rearing Children.

1. On entering the fourth year, children should not be allowed to eat oftener than once in four hours, but always in cheerfulness.

2. Do not send a child to school, nor allow him to learn at home anything more than the alphabet, nor commit anything to memory, except the Lord's prayer and a half dozen short, simple, religious hymns, until the sixth year is completed, unless the child have to "do something for a living" very early.

3. Allow nothing whatever to be eaten within two hours of bed time.

4. The last meal of the day should be of cold bread and butter, with some mild, warm milk—say milk and water, half and half, sweetened, called "cambric tea,"—or a bowl of bread and milk, or mush and milk, made of Indian (corn) or oat meal. "Preserves," "cake," or other sweetmeats, are most pernicious.

5. Children should sleep in separate beds, on a straw or hair mattress, without caps, being careful to have the feet well warmed by the fire, stockings off; or if it be in the summer, rubbed dry with the hand, washing them every other night. Have extra covering on the feet in cold weather.

6. Encourage them in every way; compel them, if necessary, to be out of doors, or in a large, clear, open, dry, cheerful room, for the great part of daylight between breakfast and sundown. If the weather is damp or raw, especially at the close of the day, keep them in doors. In late autumn, winter and early spring, a child under ten ought not to be left out later than an hour before sundown, except in constant, active motion; nine tenths of the cases of croup would be thus prevented.

7. If a child eats at regular hours, do not limit it except at supper-time.

8. By all means let the child take the fullest amount of sleep. Never wake up a child, except in a day-nap; but be particular to have it go to bed at so early an hour regularly that it shall wake up of itself in full time to dress for breakfast. Children, left to themselves, are never ready to go to bed, or to get up, in time.

9. Avoid the barbarism of keeping your child still, as long as it is doing no injury to property, persons, or good morals. Motion of some sort is a physical necessity to young children; it is an unappeasable instinct. To repress it by arbitrary commands, is a rebellion against nature and a cruelty to the child.

10. Never threaten a child. It is cruel, unjust and dangerous. What you have to do, do it, and make an end; but act deliberately, firmly, kindly, maintaining your own self-respect.

11. Never reprove a child in the presence of a third party; its self-esteem is wounded thereby, and a spirit of self-defense, of opposition, or even defiance is engendered.

12. Never make a positive promise to a child unless you are perfectly certain you will be able to fulfill it.

13. Always give your child an affectionate greeting on coming home, even after a few hours' absence. It might have been brought to your door a corpse!

14. The most certain and most speedy method of ruining a child is to be forever laying down rules, regulations and restrictions At the earliest possible moment it will break away from all restraint.

15. Let nothing ever prevent you from sending your child to bed in a calm and loving and grateful frame of mind. It or you may die before the morning.

15. Be yourself all that you would have your child be.—Hall's Journal of Health.

A BRIDAL CHAMBER.—A few days since a newly married couple visited Chicago, and stopped at one of the first class hotels; the bridegroom, in a manner showing his newly acquired importance in life, called for a room—the best the house afforded. He did not want any common fare, but the best they had, and he had the money to foot the bill. The landlord very pleasantly inquired if he was from the country, and just married? Yes, he was from the country and just married, and he wanted the best room in the house, and he didn't care a darn for the expense.

"Then," says the landlord, "you want the bridal chamber?"

"Why, yes," said the bridegroom, blushing, not exactly comprehending the matter.

"I guess so—at any rate send it up, if I don't want it my wife may."

☞"I am a Great Gun," said a tipsy printer who had been on a spree for a week. "Yes," said the foreman, "you are a great gun, and half cocked and you can consider yourself discharged." "Well," says the typo "then I had better go off."

General Geary and Temperance.

A State Temperance Convention was held in Harrisburg last week. Delegates were in attendance from every part of the State. It was an enthusiastic gathering. Gov. John W. Geary accepted the position of temporary President of the Convention. On taking the chair he spoke as follows:

Ladies and gentlemen of the Convention—Fellow citizens: I rise not for the purpose of addressing you at length on this occasion. I will not insult the distinguished and brilliant minds around me, by attempting to address you unprepared. But as you have seen proper to select me as your temporary presiding officer, I rise more to thank you than to make a speech.

When I look upon this assemblage and contemplate its object, many thoughts rush upon my mind. I see here ministers of the Gospel, members of the legal profession, intellectual men—tutors of the popular mind, from every section of the State, and I am happy to greet you. Shall we inquire why you have come here? It has certainly been for no selfish object. Some noble impulse has doubtless guided you, and I feel that our cause is a truly noble one.

You come not with arms and martial weapons. You come in time of peace to set a grand example for the young men of the country. You come in the cause of temperance. (Applause.) You do not propose to gain your object by forcible means, but to snatch our brethren from the dangers that surround them; and that by reason and example.

Why, my friends, we have just passed through five years of war. Several hundred thousand of our friends have laid down their lives, and hundreds of thousands are maimed for life. They met the foe in the field and conquered him, and we now perceive a vast army engaged in another warfare. More than half a million of our fellow countrymen are engaged in it, and the enemies they are fighting are themselves. Now, we have come here to-day to rescue them from so baleful a fight—to aid and assist them against the fell destroyer, King Alcohol. (Applause.) When we see so many of our fellow citizens daily going down to a grave as ignoble as it is horrible, it is a noble impulse which prompts us to rescue them from themselves.

We are daily doing our duty to our maimed and crippled braves and devising plans for their maintenance and comfort, but those gallant men would gladly see their friends and protectors distributing a portion of their sympathies and attentions among the millions who are injuring their health, prospects and reputation by the excessive use of liquor.

What is it that fills our asylums? What is it that fills our prisons? Our almshouses? Intemperance! Three-fourths of the inmates of our institutions for feeble-minded children owe their sad condition to inebriate parents, thus verifying the Divine sentence, saying that the sins of the father shall be visited upon the children.

For my part, I do not deserve much credit for being a temperance man. I have been temperate from my youth up. (Applause.) In all my life I think I have never used, medicine or otherwise, a quart in all, of spirituous liquors. (Cheers.) When a boy I saw the effects of drunkenness. At seven years I resolved that I never would be a drunkard, and I never have been one. I never acquired an appetite for drinking; but I have a heart full of sympathy and compassion for those who do drink.

I will tell you more: Having passed through very exciting scenes and periods in my life, I have been able to go through an extended experience without even an apparent necessity for an alcoholic stimulus. (Applause.) Called to govern a large and wild district upon the Pacific coast, I found no necessity there for the use of ardent spirits. I passed through the war of Mexico and of the Rebellion without it. I was nominated (and you will pardon me for this personal digression) to fill the gubernatorial chair of the Keystone State; but I did not, thank God! buy my nomination by giving men that which destroys body and soul. (Cheers.) Though the canvass was exciting it was conducted on temperance principles, strict and pure, and at my inauguration, I am happy to say no whisky was used. (Cheers.) A new administration has just commenced, and I promise you that I can and will perform my duties without the use of intoxicating liquors. (Cheers.)

Let us go forward, encouraging and protecting the weak, to break down the domination of strong drink in our State. We are encouraged by voices from the capital of the nation. To-day I have the glorious news to announce that Gen. Ulysses S. Grant is about to become a Son of Temperance. (Cheer upon cheer.) With a full knowledge of the activity and usefulness of that Order, and observing so many of its representatives in my presence, I deem it a pleasure to tender to you a hearty welcome to this convention at the capital of our State, and to say to you in the language of your beautiful ritual, "Hail Sons of Temperance, and be that name thy Glory and thy Shield." Let us go forward in the good cause. You have the Congress of the United States, and the State administration with you. Let all the people join in the glad chorus of a redeemed Commonwealth and nation. Let our course be upward and onward, until all the people shall rejoice, "the morning stars sing together, and the sons of God shout for joy." (Immense applause.)

☞A wit being told that an old acquaintance was married, exclaimed, "I am glad to hear it." But reflecting a moment, "and yet I don't know why I should be; he never did me any harm.

HOW LAWS ARE MADE IN PENNSYLVANIA.—The Harrisburg correspondent of the Chamberburg Repository gives the following account of how bills are made laws by the Pennsylvania Legislature:

It is a curiosity to see the machine run on private bill day. How the little serpents wriggle though unnoticed, and how the monstrous anacondas quietly crawl out on final passage, is amusing to those not initiated. All private bills are placed on what is called a calendar, which is a list of the numbers and titles of the bills of a private character, which have been reported from committees during the previous week, and embracing many usually which are not printed, but placed upon the calendar by motion. Thus with many of the bills not even printed, and most of those that are printed not often read by the members the machine starts on private bill day. An eight horse threshing machine is not a circumstance to the mill for grinding through private legislation. The Speaker keeps his feet and runs them out as fast as he can go through the ceremony in the most abbreviated form, and when he gets hoarse he calls some strong-lunged member to take his place, and the machine starts afresh with renewed celerity. They are once read, or presumed to be read, when going through what is called first reading, but after that they go like a troop of boys coasting down hill with a capital track for the purpose. The clerk rattles out the title, and before he gets it from his lips, the Speaker has the bill up to a suspension of the rules, and by the time he gets up another bill, the talismanic words, "the bill passes," have come mechanically from the presiding officer, and another law has been added to the vast volumes in Pennsylvania. The rules are suspended and the bill declared passed without a motion from any one, and often there is not so much as a single vote given in response to the question "shall the bill pass?"—but it is declared passed and perhaps not more than one in the hundred members know what has passed. Such work in a respectabe town meeting or country debating society would be deemed discreditable; but such is the system, the machinery, by which Pennsylvania laws are manufactured. The Senate formely treated the private calender mill as beneath its dignity, and unworthy of a deliberate body like the highest legislative tribunal of the State, but it is at last demoralized and now passes bills by machinery, without even the formality of a vote, in imitation of the House. If on the final passage of every bill a majority of the votes in each branch were required to be given so as to be a matter of record, we should have one-half less laws, and much better laws.

A NEW CHANCE FOR WOMEN.—The New York Times says: In the easternmost part of the country, in the State of Maine, the question of female suffrage, which has been under debate in the Legislature, and came near being enacted into law, has been postponed; but now the same subject is up for practical decision in one of our westernmost States, to wit: Kansas—and it is not unlikely that this will be the first State of the Union to confer the franchise upon women. A joint resolution has passed both branches of the Legislature, providing that the proposition to strike the word male from the section of the State Constitution which establishes the qualifications of electors shall be submitted to the popular vote. We judge it to be more than likely that the amendment will be ratified by the people of Kansas. Nowhere else in the country are the people so progressive as in Kansas, and their past history has been such as to make them afraid of nothing. The women of that State, moreover, are uncommonly well prepared to exercise the right of voting. Having all of them traveled from regions more or less distant with their husbands or brothers, having long been compelled to take a real interest in the stormy politics of their abandoned home, having unsurpassed opportunities for the acquisition of education and intelligence, they are able to take hold of the questions of the day, not like girls or novices, or milkmaids, but with knowledge and self-possession. It is certain that the experiment of female suffrage could have no more favorable field, and if the men of Kansas vote for it, we shall see the beginning of that which will not soon have an ending.

A GAY POSTMASTER.—The following is a correct copy—verbatim et literatum—of a letter received at the Post Office Department in Washington, with the exception of alteration in the name of persons and places:

Mister postmaster gineral: I was rejoysed to know I got the appointment of postmaster at Crab bite I got putty boozy over it at Newborn and lost all my papers send me some more quick so I can turn Bill Ducklogs out and be postmaster in reality. Give my respects to the President and all inquirin friends and believe me yours till doth.

Bridget's Account of her Interview with the Dentist.

"Well, Bridget, says Margery, "how did ye get along with the docthur—fwat did ye say till him, and fwat did he do till ye?"

Bridget—"It's nothing he did till me, nor I till him, that's all—only says I, 'Och, docthur, docthur, dear, it's me tooth that aches intirely, sure it is; and I've a mind to have it dhrawn out if it plaze ye.' 'Do it pain ye?' says he till me. 'Och, murther, can ye ax me that,' now, and me all the way down here to see ye about it,' says I. 'Sure, I haven't slept day or night, these three days. Haven't I tried all manes to quiet the jumpin' divil?—Didn't they tell me to put raw brandy in my mouth, but would it stay there, jist tell me now? No, the divil a bit could I keep it up in my mouth though it is far from the likes of me to be dhrinking the brandy without extreme provocation, or by accident.' So then the docthur took his iron instruments in a hurry, with as little consarnment of mind as Barney would swape the knives and forks from the table. 'Be aisy, docthur,' says I, 'there's time enough; you'll not be in such a hurry when your time comes, I'm thinking.' 'Och, well,' says the docthur, 'and if yer not ready now, ye may come on the morrow.' 'Indade, docthur, I'll not stir from this sate wid this ould tooth alive in me jaw,' says I, 'so ye may just prepaare, but ye nade not come slashing at a poor Christian body as if ye would wring her neck off first, and dhraw her tooth at yer convanience afterwards. Now clap on yer pinchers, but mind ye get hould of the right one—ye may aisily see it by the aching and jumping.' 'Oh,' says he, 'I'll get the right one,' and wid that he jabs a small, razor-looking weapon intil me mouth and cuts up me gooms as if it was nothing but cowld mate for hash for breakfast. Says I, 'Docthur, thunder and blood—fwat in the divil are ye aither? D'ye want to make an anatomy of a livin' craythur, ye grave-robber ye?' 'Sit still,' says he, jamming something like a corkstrew intil me jowl, and twisting the very sowl out of me. I sat still because the murthering thafe held me down wid his knee and the grip of his iron in me lug. He then gave an awful wring, hard enough to wring a wet blanket as dhry as gunpowdther. Didn't I think the day of judgment had come, tell me? Didn't I see the red fire in the pit? I felt my head fly off my shoulders, and, looking up, saw something monsthrous bloody in the docthur's wrenching iron. 'Is that me head ye have got there?' says I. 'No, it's only yer tooth,' he made answer. 'Maybe it is,' said I, as my eyes began to open, and, by putting my hand up, I found the outside of me face on, tho' I felt as if all the inside had been hauled out. I had taken a dollar and a half to pay for the operation, thinking it would be enough for a poor woman to pay; but I thought I'd just ax him the price. So says I, 'Docthur, how much do ye ax beside the trouble?' 'Fifty cents,' says he. 'Fifty cints!' says I. 'Sure I have not been submitting three days to that tyrant of a tooth for fifty cents? Troth, this same tooth-pulling is not very expensive, and I'm much obliged till ye, docthur."

Margery—"But where's the tooth; yer should have brought it home and dipped it into salt and flung it over yer left shoulder into the fire; ye'll have bad luck all the rest of yer life."

Bridget—"The divil take the tooth, and the bad luck, too, if ever I think of it any more. Sure I've had enough of its company."

PARTICULAR DIRECTIONS.—A Lady occupying room letter B, at a hotel, wrote on the slate as follows:

"Wake letter B at seven; and if letter B says, 'let her be,' don't let her be, nor letter B be, because if you let letter B be, letter B will be unable to let her house to Mr. B, who is to be on hand at half-past seven."

The porter, a better boot-black than orthographist, after studying the above all night, did not know whether to wake letter B, or to "let her be."

CHARITY.—A mendicant well known in the neighborhood of the church of the Madeline, Paris, addressed to a gentleman the following irresistible appeal: "I am poor, monsieur, but I am religious. I want but one of the saving virtues. I have Faith, I have Hope; it remains with you to give me Charity."

☞"Can you do all sorts of casting here?" said a solemn looking chap at the works the other day.

"Yes," said Frank, preparing to take his order: "all sorts."

"I know of no mode in which a loyal citizen may so well demonstrate his devotion to his country as by sustaining the Flag, the Constitution and the Union, under all circumstances, and UNDER EVERY ADMINISTRATION REGARDLESS OF PARTY POLITICS, AGAINST ALL ASSAILANTS, AT HOME AND ABROAD."—STEPHEN A. DOUGLAS.

"The World Moves."

—Under the new Tenure of Office bill passed by Congress and which is now a law by having been passed over the President's veto, the Post Master General announces that millions of money are in the hands of Clerks of Post Offices destitute of Postmasters. Postmasters rejected by the Senate cannot act after being rejected. If there is no clerk in a Post office the office must be closed until the President and the Senate can agree as to the person to be appointed. Hundreds of postoffices are now destitute of postmasters and may continue so for months. Mr. I. D. Hildebrand is acting P. M., at this place, he having been clerk under Mr. Miller, rejected. It was fortunate for the people here that Mr. Miller secured the services of a good clerk, otherwise the office would have been closed until the President and the Senate could have come to terms.

—No reconstruction yet. In the Senate on Wednesday last, Mr. Sumner introduced another bill for the reconstruction of the rebel States. It is fashioned a good deal after the Louisiana bill, but is more proscriptive in its terms against the late rebels. It provides for the appointment by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, of a Governor and Legislative council for each of the ten States lately in rebellion. Civil government is to be inaugurated by these officers. Rebels are permitted to vote, but they must first take what is called an oath to maintain a Republican form of government, swearing that they will oppose all legislation making discriminations on account of color, and that they will give equal educational advantages to blacks and whites alike. It is not likely that anything will be done with this bill this session.

—The Pittsburg Commercial, says:—"With but very trifling exceptions the Thirty-Ninth Congress is receiving the thanks of the Republican press, for the thoroughness with which it completed the business before it—the Tariff Bill being the almost sole exception." We admit that Congress has done some things very well, but the condition of the whole country is evidence that it has also done some things very bad. "The thoroughness with which it completed the business before it" still leaves the whole country distracted and almost in a state of bankruptcy. It is too fashionable for the party press to approve any and everything party leaders and party representatives may do. If it was otherwise, party leaders and party representatives would sometimes remember that they might be held to their pledges or repudiated by the people placing confidence in them.

The report of the committee appointed by Congress to investigate the frauds in the New York Custom House reveals facts implicating several parties near and including the President. The "order system" may be honest in itself, but it can and has been abused by dishonest men of all parties for the purpose of raising extra funds for those who are fortunate enough to get into "the ring." All "fat" offices have their "extras" which are apportioned amongst friends as rewards for political services rendered.

On Wednesday last, Senator Doolittle and Patterson (the President's son-in-law,) rose in their seats and denied in the most positive manner the charges in the report of the committee.

—The Pittsburg Commercial confesses inability to imagine why so many Reconstruction propositions and Constitutional Amendments are introduced into Congress, after one that promises to be effective, has been adopted. This is a very proper confession, which others could make with the same propriety. If Congress is going to undo what it has done, we suggest that it consider how much time it will take, and how much money it will have honestly earned in the labor.

—The Blair County Whig suggests Andrew G. Curtin as a candidate for State Senator from this District at the next election. The strongest argument in favor of Ex Governor Curtin being a candidate is the fact that the purchasable material of his party about Harrisburg appears to be alarmed at the possibility of him being a candidate. The people will honor Curtin if politicians wont.

—The Harrisburg Telegraph deems it necessary that Pennsylvania have another Penitentiary for the Middle District, and recommends its erection at the Capitol. We say let Harrisburg have it, it may have some influence in controlling the actions of law makers and shoddyites.

—The Post Office in Philadelphia was taken charge of by the Third Assistant Post Master General after the rejection by the Senate of the person appointed by the President, and he now "runs the machine."

—During the existence of the Thirty Ninth Congress, the President vetoed ten bills and pocketed one. Six were passed over the veto, four vetoes were sustained, and four bills became laws without the President's signature.

—Solomon Johnson, a colored man, formerly President Lincoln's barber, has been appointed a first-class clerk in the Treasury Department at Washington, with a desk in the Secretary's office.

—There is a wide gulf between extremes—no man has been more applauded or more censured than President Johnson.

—The office of Whisky Inspector has been abolished—the duties now fall upon the Assistant Assessors.

Why Emigrate Westward?

We deem it important just at this time to refer to the mania which possesses many of our people to emigrate westward. When spring approaches the mania is more prevalent than at any other season. We do not attribute this so much to the change from dull, dreary and quiet winter into bright-eyed, laughing and progressive Spring—thereby having, as is alleged, a like tendency upon man's sensibilities—as we do to another cause. That is this: During the Winter months many of our people, and especially the young, are out of employment. Spring comes, and impelled by a desire to "make hay while the sun shines," they immediately set themselves to work to find something to do. Often they are at their wit's end to know what to get at that will suit them best. The previous year, perhaps, they endeavored to learn an out-door trade, or, perhaps, they followed some calling which was neither a trade or profession; but they are now in a quandary to know whether it would "pay" them to follow the same pursuit this year. The idea of learning a trade bothers them. They want to make money faster, and believing that the West is the place to do it, they therefore emigrate. Here they are again confronted with obstacles they did not anticipate. The West has no room for drones. There a man must be a man in every sense of the word, to be known as a man. If he would succeed, he must apply himself to diligent, steady labor, depending on his own exertions. There he makes friends slowly, as everybody is ambitious to obtain the same prize he came for.

Thus a young man is losing the pleasures of home, the companionship of many friends, and sacrificing the support and encouragements of admirers, to encounter difficulties, hunt up new friends, and rely upon his own resources and industry entirely. In the event of failing health or sudden sickness he is deprived of a mother's watchful tenderness and the sympathies of kind friends and associates.

We write thus to induce any of the young who desire to emigrate to reflect calmly before they make the step. We would encourage no young man, who has a good home, kind friends, and a permanent employment, (no matter whether it is lucrative or not) to leave for the West. That young man is wasting precious time and burying his talent in the ground, who is ever changing his occupation, and we can say the same of him who leaves a good situation, in order to make money faster, in a different locality. A man is safer in adding gradually to the little he has than sacrificing that little in the attempt to make large gains.

We would only advise a young man to emigrate westward when necessity compels him; but none can make this plea, who has any ability, energy or perseverance. There is scope enough at home, to any one who has the will, to become a useful member of society, and even get rich. It is principally the discontented who desire to emigrate, and the secret of the discontent lies in the fact of their greed for gold; and it is an undisputed fact that when a man becomes avaricious he will never become happy, no matter how much wealth he may accumulate. No! young man, do not emigrate, if you see the least chance to do good for yourself at home. Reflect before you act, no matter what presents itself. Consider what you will lose as well as what you might gain if you want to go West.

The Free Railroad Bill.

A "Free Railroad Bill" passed the Senate on Thursday last. It is not what the friends of a free Railroad Law want. The Pittsburg Commercial speaks of it as follows:

"The bill to prevent the building of Railroads in Pennsylvania is going through the Legislature of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, in session at Harrisburg. Every effort of the friends of a Free Railroad Law, have thus far been futile. Reinforced by deserters, like Senators Searight and Stutzman the forces of the Monopoly System defy the people and utterly disregard the good of the State. Such at least are the indications furnished by the progress of the Bill through the Senate. What will be developed when it reaches the House remains to be seen."

Minnesota has a citizen who can lift five hundred pounds weight with his teeth and eat twenty pounds of bread daily.

A wag informed a merchant that he might sell twice as much oil as he did, if he would only give full measure. Very good advice.

In California snow-shoe clubs offer prizes and hold tournaments, in which women participate. It should be called the light-foot brigade.

The Paris physicians claim to have discovered a perfect cure for croup, in flour-of-sulphur, in water. The children's millenium has come, if that is the case.

Poultices made of stewed pumpkins are said to be an excellent remedy for inflammatory rheumatism. Those afflicted are advised to try this cure.

Petersburg, Va., has built two dredging scows, and called one General Grant and the other General Lee. That's impartiality with a vengeance.

A lady being asked to waltz, gave the following sensible and appropriate answer:—"No, I thank you, sir, I have hugging enough at home."

Twenty-one liquor dealers were arrested in New York, on Monday, for violating the liquor law. It is found that several thread and needle stores sell liquor to women in such a manner as to baffle the police.

The Philadelphia Bulletin says the exterior of the new Court House "is something like a cross between a barn and a village meeting-house"—nevertheless, very spacious and convenient inside.

Fortune-telling and tilting hoops operate differently. The former reveal what the lady will be in future, the latter reveal what she is at present. Not always, if we may credit what is said about one of the uses to which sawdust is put.

A remarkable and perhaps unparalleled coincidence is recorded in the civil registry of Bar-sub-Aube, in France. In 1866 there were inscribed there one hundred and six births, one hundred and six deaths, one hundred and six marriages.

In Great Britain it is calculated that a salmon represents a value equivalent to that of a good-sized sheep, without imposing on any one the trouble of housing and feeding. The salmon referred to often weigh from sixty to eighty pounds each.

Several Washington ladies are vigorously engaged making up clothes of baby dimensions for Mrs. Jefferson Davis, who for some time has been living with her husband. The rumors about his dying condition there must have been somewhat exaggerated.

A clergyman was lately depicting before a deeply interested audience the alarming increase of intemperance, when he astonished his hearers by exclaiming: "A young woman in my neighborhood died very suddenly last Sabbath, while I was preaching the gospel, in a state of intoxication."

The Pittsburg Gazette says editorially:—"After considerable opportunities for judging, we think more men stagger along Fifth street, daily, in a condition of drunkenness, than along any corresponding street in the United States." That speaks bad for the smoky city.

A servant girl in Berlin fell against a red hot stove and burnt on her arm the date of 1809, which was on the stove. The physician who was called on to minister to her, looked at the date branded on her arm, and shaking his head, withdrew, remarking that for so old an injury there was no cure.

Twenty-five ladies have entered their names for the ensuing session at the Ladies' Medical College, London. A cotemporary adds, if they prove as skillful in dissecting bodies as they no doubt are in dissecting the characters and little weaknesses of their female friends, they will become proficients in the art of surgery.

A Newburyport school teacher, about to marry a widower with a number of children, sent in her resignation to the committee, because she "had engaged, for an indefinite period of time, as an assistant in a private family." One thing might be said of her, and that is she was well qualified to govern the new flock, from her varied experience.

Esta bebada, he is drunk, is the most withering of rebukes that can be applied to a Brazilian; just as the Greenlander's dernier resort in cursing is to tell the bad man he is good for nothing and ought to eat dirt. We rather think there would be a fearful amount of withering in Huntingdon, if people here regarded the phrase with the same high-strung sensibility.

The present population of Alexandria, Egypt, is stated at 130,000, and it is said to be rapidly growing. Some idea of the ancient splendor of this city may be formed when it is known that, as late as A. D. 640, the date of its conquest by the Caleph Omar, Alexandria contained 4000 temples, 4000 baths, and 400 theatres. Its ancient circuit was 15 miles, and its population 600,000.

A horse's petition to his driver.—Going up hill, whip me not; coming down hill, hurry me not; on level road, spare me not; loose in the stable, forget me not; of hay and corn, rob me not; of clean water, stint me not; with sponge and water, neglect me not; of soft dry bed, deprive me not; tired and hot, wash me not; if sick or cold, chill me not; with bit and reins, oh! jerk me not; and when you are angry, strike me not.

A celebrated wholesale merchant in London, England, has presented the proprietors of the Telegraph newspaper with a printing press which cost $25,000, as a token of appreciation. In doing so he accompanied the gift by a letter, which said: "By judicious advertising in your paper I have amassed the fortune which enables me to offer this testimony of regard and good-will." If any of our merchants will do this much for us we will "puff" him continually, and publish a column advertisement for him as long as he lives and not charge him a nickel.

In Buffalo, a few days ago, a mischievous fellow put a dead mouse in his sister's waterfall—a splendid one she had just purchased. In a short time a strong odor was discernable wherever she went, which no one could account for, until the brother offered a wager there was a mouse in her waterfall. She accepted, and of course lost; but the last that was seen of the mischievous brother he was making rapid tracks for the depot, prepared for a long journey. This story we take from an exchange, but we do not vouch for its truthfulness. Jokes thinks it a little ratty.

FROM WASHINGTON.

March 7.—The impeachment question was again before the House to-day, when Mr. SPALDING, Republican from Ohio, said: "Mr. Speaker, I do not boast of possessing any extraordinary degree of courage, either moral or physical, but I thank my Creator that he has so constituted me that I can rise on the floor of this House yet, and declare my convictions, although they differ with the majority of the party with which I act. Sir, I differ toto cælo with my colleague, (Mr. Ashley), and I stand here in this very place from which more than two moths ago the Executive of the nation was charged with high crimes and misdemeanors, to denounce the whole scheme as one of consummate folly. (NOTE—Mr. Spalding now occupies the seat Mr. Ashley occupied last session.—Reporter.)

I say that no one act, amounting to a crime or a misdemeanor, has as yet been proved against the Executive of this nation, and I challenge any man to reply to me when I make this averment; and I say more, I say that it is not required by some of those who charge the Executive with high crimes and misdemeanors, that proof shall be obtained. It is only necessary, as has been said in high places within the past week or ten days, that it shall be known that the President was an obstruction in the way of what gentlemen call "progress," and that therefore the Radical party of the country must remove him. Sir, I claim to hold to no such doctrine, and I say to my associates of the great Union party, that they must "look well to their ways if they suppose the intelligent people of the United States are going to uphold them in the promulgation and practice of any such principles."

I have the utmost confidence in the Judiciary Committee as constituted in the Thirty-ninth Congress. I doubt not that I shall repose an equal degree of confidence in any committee that shall be constituted by our present Speaker. I have no objection to this investigation being pursued thro' the channel of that Judiciary Committee. But, at the same time, to be consistent, I must say that I do oppose and shall oppose it until I have some evidence presented to my mind to show that we can make an appeal to the conscience of this great nation when we seek to deprive it of its Executive head.

We are bringing to test our republican principles, our popular form of government; a test such as no nation has ever yet been brought to. I trust we have not yet arrived at the same state of feeling as that which existed during the revolution of Oliver Cromwell, or that which lived in the days of Robespierre and Marat in France, when those who one day advocated the most extreme measures were the next day brought to the scaffold because they were not far enough in the advance. Is that to be our position in this country? Sir, I have voted for every radical measure of reconstruction proposed in this House, and yet we have not adopted radical measures enough to suit the purpose of some gentlemen around me. They now cry for the head of the Executive.

For what good purpose is it to make way for some other man or set of men? Is this whole nation to be convulsed? Is our public credit to be trifled with? Are our stocks to be brought down to thirty, twenty, or ten per cent., simply to gratify the anxiety to remove the Executive head of the nation! Sir, I cannot go for that proposition.

March 8.—Mr. Morrill introduced a joint resolution appropriating $150,000 to the relief of the freedmen and destitute colored people of the District, which resolution passed the House.

A communication was to-day laid before the Senate, from the Secretary of War, transmitting a statement of Gen. Howard, Commissioner of the Freedmen's Bureau, in response to a resolution of the Senate calling for information in regard to extreme want in the Southern States, etc. The report states that from official sources, and confirmed by gentlemen from different sections of the South, he estimates that 32,662 whites and 24,238 colored people will need food from some source before the next crop can relieve them. The number of rations required for one month will be 170,700; for five months, the probable time required, 8,535,000. At 25 cents per ration, the estimated cost will be $2,133,750. Of this $625,000 has already been appropriated, $1,508,750 to be provided. The destitute are apportioned as follows:

	Whites.	Blacks.
Virginia	2,500	2,500
North Carolina	3,000	2,000
South Carolina	5,000	5,000
Florida	500	1,000
Georgia	7,500	5,000
Alabama	10,000	5,00
Tennessee	1,000	1,000
Mississippi	1,862	2,038
Arkansas	1,000	500
Louisiana	300	200

Since the report was drawn up a statement has been received from the assistant commissioner and the Governor of Georgia, greatly exceeding the amount in the table; but a larger appropriation is not recommended for Georgia before another estimate shall be made, based on a thorough inspection.

March 9.—The question of an adjournment or recess of the first session of the Fortieth Congress has been extensively canvassed among members and Senators to-day, and there seems to be no prospect of an immediate agreement as to when the recess shall be taken, or on what time Congress shall meet again. Most all of the Senators favor a recess as soon as the Executive business is disposed of until November, but the House looks upon that proceeding as a virtual abandonment of the impeachment question.

March 10.—At the rate the nominations come in from the President, it will take a month for the Senate to get ready to adjourn. Nearly all Democrats are rejected, and the President says he thinks it is fair to send in half Democrats and half Republicans, so long as his Democratic nominations are first class men.

☞The funeral of Artemus Ward (Charles F. Browne) took place on the 9th at Kensall Green. The remains were followed to the graveyard by a great number of literary gentlemen and friends, including many Americans. Mr. Morris, Secretary to Mr. Adams, represented the U. S. legation.

The Central Pacific Railroad.

This road was commenced in 1863, but opposition and other drawbacks hampered its progress greatly. It is now finished, and the locomotive is running ninety-three miles eastward from Sacramento to Cisco station. This is within twelve miles of the dreaded summit of the Sierras. The elevation above the sea of each of the principal stations on the route thus far are as follows: Newcastle, thirty one miles from Sacramento, 930 feet elevation; Colfax, 62 miles, 2,448 feet; Dutch Flat, 67 miles, 3,475 feet; Cisco, 93 miles, 5,911 feet. The road is now graded close to the summit, which will be crossed at an elevation of 7,050 feet. By far the most difficult part of the road has now been built; that from the summit down the mountains eastward will be comparatively easy, and the grade light. In coming up, the highest allowed grade, 116 feet to the mile, is but once reached; the average ascending grade to the summit but 75 feet to the mile. In descending the eastward side of the Sierras, 90 feet will be the greatest descending grade, and the average only 40 feet. When the eastern base of the Sierras is passed, there is almost a natural grade to the westerly base of the Rocky Mountains. This part of the road can be built ten times more rapidly and about as much more cheaply than that already done. All the county, State, and national monetary aid that was received has been thrown into the work; and this terrible earnestness that has characterized its managers was what silenced opposition more than anything else, so that its former greatest detractors are now its warmest friends. And it was no sentimental wish alone to see the road completed that made its owners give to it so lavishly. They know well the great present trade and the yet comparatively undeveloped resources of the extremely rich country that is waiting for the development that the road will give; and they know, also, that every dollar expended upon it will come back with interest in a very near future after its completion, and that one share in their hands with the road built will be worth two while it is unfinished.

The road will be complete to Virginia City, Nevada, 156 miles from Sacramento, in the latter part of 1867; to Austin, 320 miles, by the fall of 1868; to Salt Lake City, 585 miles from Sacramento, in January, 1870.—New York World.

PATENT APPLIED FOR.

Hitherto there has been nothing introduced in way of a Marriage Certificate that has excited any interest or attraction. But the originators of the PHOTOGRAPH MARRIAGE CERTIFICATE claim that they have gotten up something that will be most heartily welcomed by all persons now married and all those who contemplate marriage.

Size and Plan of the Marriage Certificate.

The size of the Certificate is 19 by 14 inches. It contains a beautiful figure representing the union of two hearts. Above the figure is written in beautifully ornamented German Text the words "Photograph Marriage Certificate." There are three spaces in the figure: on the space in the center the Certificate proper is written. The words, "two hearts in one" form an arch over the Certificate proper, and immediately under the arch there is a beautiful figure representing the joining of hands, and where the centre space comes to a point there is a picture of two beautiful turtle doves. On the space to the left there is a place for the photograph of the gentleman and under it we have the words, "To the Husband," in ornamental text, under which we have selections of Scripture passages, addressed to the husband. On the left side of the engraving we have a place for the Photograph of the wife. Immediately under which we have the words, "To the Wife," in ornamental text, under which are appropriate passages of Scripture addressed to the wife. Over the space for the photograph of gentleman we have written in Old English characters, the following appropriate passage of Scripture: "It is not good that the man should be alone," and over the space for the photograph of the lady, we have the corresponding words: "I will make him an help meet for him." At the lower extension of the figure of the hearts, we have the hearts bound together or encircled in part by these words: "What therefore God hath joined together let no man put asunder." The Certificate is so constructed that card photographs of both bride and bridegroom can be inserted without the least possible difficulty. Indeed everything connected with it is so elegant, attractive and desirable that many single persons seeing the Certificate have been so much pleased with its appearance, that they purchased on sight one of these beautiful parlor ornaments.
A specimen copy of the Photograph Marriage Certificate will be carefully put up and sent by mail free, on receipt of the retail price, which is ONE DOLLAR.

Brief Items.

—A new dairy will commence operations this week on Valley Farm, by Mr. James Dickey.

—Our market is pretty well supplied with choice apples and potatoes. Eggs coming in on a rush—butter in demand.

—The East Baltimore M. E. Conference will convene at Frederick City, Md., on the 13th inst, Bishop Kingsley presiding.

—We call attention to card of Dr. Wiestling in another column. The Doctor comes amongst us well recommended.

—Hoop Skirts, of a Superior quality, "Hopkin's Own Make," new spring styles, adv. in this issue. Ladies will make a note of this fact.

—James C. Clark, of this place, Deputy Collector, is acting Collector of this the Seventeenth District, until another is appointed and confirmed.

—Soldiers applying for pensions will please take notice, that Dr. H. K. Neff has been appointed Examining Surgeon in place of Dr. Snare, deceased.

—Maj. B. M. Morrow, known to many of our citizens, having been connected with the Provost Marshal's office, died in Scotch Valley, Blair county, on the 6th inst.

—A number of dwellings went up in West Huntingdon last winter. We understand the building prospects are good for some time to come. This is as it should be.

—Johnston & Watson are now in the city buying a large stock of goods which they will open in their new room adjoining Jacob's Hotel, about the 20th instant.

—Government property at private sale, consisting of all kinds of Harness, etc, adv. in this issue by Messrs. Pitkin & Co., of Philadelphia, New York and Washington, D. C.

—If you want choice new sugar-cured hams, dried beef, breakfast and plain flitch, double extra family flour, and many other choice articles, go to Lewis' Family Grocery.

—Two men named Taylor and Espenlaub were severely injured at the railroad shops in Altoona last week by the giving way of a large crane, used for shifting heavy machinery.

—A farmer with six cows at home was in town on Saturday trying to buy butter for his table. We can do as well with one cow, that ought to have been fresh last December.

—Rev. J. A. Price, who leaves the Methodist charge of this place, has married fifty couples since last March, and realized over $250 in marriage fees and perquisites. Lucky Reverend!

—We call attention to the advertisements of the Logan Academy and Shirleysburg Academy. Both these are good institutions and we commend them to the patronage of the public.

—Lodges of the Order of Good Templars have been instituted at Saxton, Coalmont and Marklesburg within the past two weeks. The temperance cause is gaining ground in desirable localities.

—All the towns surrounding us are receiving the benefits of entertainments by traveling troops—just because they have town halls. We publish this merely as a hint, and hope we don't wound anybody's feelings.

—The "fellow what" writes the papers for the Blair County Whig is the making of a good print-er, judging from the neat and Capital style in which he prints with pencil the word "Globe." Punctilious chap, that.

—Since the Fenians have fairly got started in Ireland, the war fever has taken possession of the "sons" in this country. A meeting was held last week in Hollidaysburg, at which recruits for the Fenian army were raised.

—The Hollidaysbusg Register came to us last week in an improved but not enlarged form. We always like to notice commendable improvements in any of our cotemporaries. Bro. Traugh owes us one or two Standards. Hasn't busted we hope on a Gordon Jobber.

—Will be ahead of any in town, the front of the new store-rooms in Mr. Leister's new building. Some malicious apes on Sunday night last deliberately daubed the freshly painted shutters with mud. Police are necessary to put a stop to the pranks of these mischief-makers.

—It is hardly necessary to say that our streets are in a muddy and filthy condition; but it is necessary to add that some measures should be taken by our Council to prepare the ways for Summer. In this connection we would suggest that decent crossings be made where they are needed.

—Services are held every Friday evening in the Episcopal Church, this place, during Lent. The Rev. Mr. Barrow will commence a course of three sermons next Friday evening on the history of "Joseph and his brethren." There will also be services next Sabbath, morning and afternoon.

"Dull Times"—"Hard Times."

These words are upon the lips of everybody. How to make the times better is a question that should interest every man—rich or poor. Reader, if you owe a hundred, fifty, twenty, ten, five, one dollar or fifty or twenty-five cents, pay it, if you can do so. The amount you pay to a neighbor or any other person you are indebted to will enable him to pay somebody else, and by keeping the account, (no matter how small it may be,) moving, hundreds of dollars of debts can be paid in a week, the people will feel better towards one another and the times will not be as dull or as hard as are now experienced by all. Mr. A. pays Mr. B. $5, Mr. B. pays Mr. C, Mr. C. pays Mr. D, and Mr. D. pays the same $5 to somebody else, and the $5 continues to pass through a hundred hands and at last, after paying five hundred dollars of small debts, it may come back to the hands of the individual starting it.

Still Another.

Ye ancient Borough has added another to her Societies,—the I. O. of N. S. It was incorporated on Tuesday, the 18th of February, and has met with wonderful success. It is composed of many of our leading young men; much good will be done by the organization. We hear it is contemplated starting a journal in the interests of the Society. The following are the officers: Great Tycoon, J. Willoughby; Great Mogul, Wm. Cunningham; Sen Salaam, John Major; Presiding Arab, W. K. Burchnell; Pigeon Solicitor, J. C. Carroll; Presiding Squab, J. Maguire; Cor. Sec., of I. O. of N. S., Wm. Foster. Society meets on Tuesday and Friday, to receive application for membership.

Not Dead Yet.

A few weeks ago we announced the death of the "Immortal J. N. Free" an eccentric genius who was known to most of the editors and newspaper men in the United States, but learn since that it was a false rumor. He was in Cleveland, Ohio, at the time his death was announced, and is reported to have pronounced the rumor of his own demise as a "pressure" which he could scarcely stand. We thought it improbable that the veil which shrouded the "Immortal" should be lifted so soon. He was in Harrisburg last week and was noticed by the press.

The "Bread and Butter Brigade."

The question in town is "who will be Post Master?" The candidates are numerous and several feel sure of success. We hear of the following applicants: The present popular Assistant "Ike" Hildebrand, Capt. Brice X. Blair, Lt. W. B. Zeigler, Col. W. Williams, Ex P. M. John Read, Lieut. Erk. Miles, Editor John A. Nash, Mr. Wm. K. Rahm—all Republicans but Mr. Hildebrand. We are a little astonished that some men are willing to accept office from Andrew Johnson after abusing him as they have.

Grand Army of the Republic.

At a meeting of Post No. 33, Grand Army of the Republic, held Feb. 23d 1867, the following officers were elected for the ensuing term: Post Commander, W. F. Johnson; Sr. Commander, T. W. Myton; Adjutant, John M. Major; Surgeon, W. B. Zeigler; Jr. Master, J. A. Willoughby; Chaplain, J. M. Maguire.

Something New.

We call attention of all, especially those persons contemplating building, to the advertisement of T. Burchinell & Co. His mill is furnished and is running finely, turning out work equal to the best mill in the country. The mill is a great convenience to the surrounding country, and we hope the enterprising proprietors may never regret locating here.

I. O. of O. F.

To all whom it may concern.—Dear Brethren, with good faith in the principles of our time honored order, and believing that our borough is a field open, we do extend a call to all who may be members of the same. Let us meet at the residence of Mr. Leister, (Hotel) on Railroad street, on Friday next, at 6 P. M. O. F.

—Master Wm. B. Poulton, of Harrisburg, played a match game of billiards with his father, on Monday last, for the championship of Central Pennsylvania, and beat him 136 in 500 points. William was presented with a magnificent cue by his admirers, which is on exhibition at Poulton's billiard rooms, Harrisburg. We O-pine that is a nice cue.

—Mr. John Hamilton was struck by a wood train near Newton Hamilton on Tuesday last, and was instantly killed. He was a Division Boss on the Pennsylvania railroad, and at the time of the occurrence had a gang of men at work repairing the track. He endeavored to escape the approaching engine, but got on the wrong track.

Borough Election.

The Spring election in this borough will be held on Friday, the 15th inst. The following officers will be voted for: 1 Judge of Elections, 2 Inspectors, 2 School Directors, 1 Assessor, 1 Constable.

To Pennsylvania Soldiers.

The undersigned, appointed to prepare a History of the Pennsylvania Volunteer and Militia organizations, having discovered many imperfections in the muster-out rolls of the companies, desires that each soldier, who served in any organization from this State, would furnish information in his personal history pertaining to the following points, viz:

1. Wounds.—If wounded, give the date; in what engagements received; nature of wounds; result of wounds; nature of surgical operations, if capital, and by whom performed.

2. Imprisonments.—If a prisoner, give the date and place of capture; where imprisoned; nature of treatment; and the date and manner of escape or release.

He also desires that the relatives or companions in arms of deceased soldiers would give the cause, date, place of death and place of interment of each, and any facts in his history touching the subjects above referred to.

Write at the head of the page the name of the person to whom the information pertains, the number of regiment and letter of company to which he belonged. Write in concise terms, in a plain hand, on letter paper, and on but one side of a leaf.

The undersigned also desires to make a collection for present, and for future use of—

1. Complete files of all newspapers published in the State from the beginning of 1861 to the close of 1865, to be bound and permanently kept in the archives of the State. Will the publishers or any friend possessing them furnish such files?

2. Discourses commemorative of fallen soldiers; pamphlets pertaining in any manner to the Rebellion or its causes; articles published or in manuscript containing historical facts.

3. Published histories or sketches of regiments, batteries or companies; printed rolls and descriptive matter.

4. Diaries of soldiers; letters illustrative of military life, containing information of permanent historic value, or descriptions of interesting incidents; plans of battles, sieges, forts and of naval engagements.

5. Complete rolls of students of each College in the State who were in the service.

6. Card photographs (vignette) of each officer, of whatever grade, who, at any time, acted as commander of a regiment, battery or independent company, inscribed with his name, number of regiment, &c., dates of period during which he held command, with his present post-office address. The relatives of deceased officers are requested to forward the photographs of such officers inscribed as above. No use will be made of these photographs without the express permission of the senders, further than to arrange them in albums for preservation.

Much of the matter called for under these several heads may not be needed for immediate use, but the day will come when it will be invaluable, and the present is regarded as a favorable time for commencing the collection.

Let every true son of Pennsylvania respond promptly to this call, and thereby rescue from oblivion many memorials of her patriotism and her power. SAMUEL P. BATES.
State Historian.

MEDICAL ELECTRICITY
BY
DR. WILLIAM BREWSTER,
HUNTINGDON, PA.

For the benefit of those proposing to undertake Electrical treatment for diseases we give in the following list a few of the more prominent and most common complaints met with in our practice, in all of which we are most successful. IN NEARLY ALL CASES OF CHRONIC DISEASE, ELECTRICITY IS A SURE REMEDY, AND IN ALL CASES BENEFICIAL, IF PROPERLY APPLIED. Those, therefore, afflicted with complaints not here enumerated, need have no hesitation in applying, and whether only RELIEF, or a PERMANENT CURE can be effected, they will receive replies accordingly. All communications free.

1 Epilepsy, Chorea, St. Vitus' Dance, Paralysis, Neuralgia, Hysteria, Nervousness, Palpitation of the Heart, Lock-Jaw, etc.
2 Sore Throat, Dyspepsia, Diarrhœa, Dysentery, Obstinate Constipation, Hemorrhoids, or Piles, Bilious, Flatulent, and Painter's Colic, and all affections of the Liver and Spleen.
3 Catarrh, Cough, Influenza, Asthma, (where not caused by organic disease of the heart,) Bronchitis, Pleurisy, Rheumatism of the Chest, Consumption in the early stages.
4 Gravel, Diabetis, and Kipney Complaints.
5 Rheumatism, Gout, Lumbago, Stiff Neck, Spinal Diseases, Hip Diseases, Cancers, Tumors; (those last named always cured without pain, or cutting, or plasters in any form)

In a word, we propose to cure all curable diseases.

We have no connection whatever with any other Electrical office in this or any other county. All letters address to

LATEST FASHIONS DEMAND
J. W. Bradley's Celebrated Patent
Duplex Elliptic
or Double Spring,
SKIRT.

The wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any lady wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, operas, carriages, railroad cars, church pews, arm chairs, for promenade and house dress, as the skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any single spring skirt.

A lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the duplex elliptic steel spring skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For children, misses and young ladies they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the single spring but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs, but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down steops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in crinoline, viz: superior quality, perfect manufacture, stylish shape and finish, flexibility, durability, comfort and economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or double spring skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against imposition be particular to notice that skirts offered as "Duplex" have the red ink stamp, viz: J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs upon the waist band—none others are genuine. Also notice that every hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other spring.

For sale in all stores where first class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere.

Manufactured by the sole owners of the patent,

Income Tax.

The following is the new income tax, which is fixed at a uniform rate, and goes into effect March 1, 1867. The tax on incomes for 1866 is to be levied the day this act goes into effect.

Income from gains, profits from property, rent, interest, dividends, or salaries from any profession, trade, or any employment, a tax on the amount so derived over one thousand dollars, of 5 per cent.

And in addition to one thousand dollars exempt from income tax, all national, State, county, and municipal taxes paid within the year shall be deducted from the gains, profits, or income of the person who has actually paid the same, whether such person be owner, tenant, or mortgager; losses actually sustained during the year arising from fires, shipwreck, or incurred in trade, and debts ascertained to be worthless, but excluding all estimated depreciation of values and losses within the year on sales of real estate purchased two years previous to the year for which the income is estimated; the amount actually paid for labor or interest by any person who rents lands or hires labor to cultivate land, or who conducts any other business from which income is actually derived; the amount actually paid by any person for the rent of the house or premises occupied as a residence for himself or his family; the amount paid out for usual or ordinary repairs:—Provided, That no deduction shall be made for any amount paid out for new buildings, permanent improvements, or betterments, made to increase the value of any property or estate: And provided further, That only one deduction of one thousand dollars shall be made from the aggregate income of all the members of any family, composed of one or more minor children, or husband and wife; that guardians shall be allowed to make such deduction in favor of each and every ward, except that in case where two or more wards are comprised in one family, and have joint property interest, only one deduction shall be made in their favor: And provided further, That in cases where the salary or other compensation paid to any person in the employment or service of the United States shall not exceed the rate of one thousand dollars per annum, or shall be by fees, or uncertain or irregular in the amount or in the time during which the same shall have accrued or been earned, such salary or other compensation shall be included in estimating the annual gains, profits, or income of the person to whom the same shall have been paid. In estimating the gains, profits, and income of any person, there shall be included all income derived from interest upon notes, bonds, and other U. S. securities; profits realized within the year from sales of real estate purchased within the years previous to the year for which income is estimated; interest received or accrued upon all notes, bonds, and mortgages, or other forms of indebtedness bearing interest, whether paid or not, if good and collectable, less interest which has become due upon said person during the year; the amount of all premiums on gold and coupons; the amount of sales on live stock, sugar, wool, butter, cheese, pork, beef, mutton, or other meats, hay and grain, or other vegetable or other productions, being the growth or produce of the estate of such persons, not including any part thereof consumed directly by the family; all other gains, profits, and income derived from any source whatever; except the rental value of any homestead used or occupied by any person or by his family in his own right or in the right of his wife; and the share of any person of the gains and profits of all companies, whether incorporated or partnership, who would be entitled to the same if divided, whether divided or otherwise, except the amount of income received from institutions or corporations whose officers, as required by law, withhold a per centum of the dividends made by such institutions, and pay the same to officers authorized to receive the same; and except that portion of the salary or pay received for services in the civil, military, naval or other service of the United States, including Senators, Representatives and Delegates in Congress, from which the tax has been deducted.

The administrative sections of the new act relate almost entirely to the tax on distilled spirits. It provides that hereafter "all distilled spirits, before being removed from the distillery, shall be inspected and guaged by a general inspector of spirits, who shall mark the barrels or packages in the manner required by law, and so much of the act approved July 13, 1866, as requires the appointment of an inspector for each distillery established according to law, is repealed. It is provided that such other duties as have heretofore been imposed upon inspectors of distilleries, may be performed by such other duly appointed officers as may be designated by the Commissioner of Internal Revenue."

SHORT SHRIFT AND A BULLET.—Judge Lynch makes short work of horse thieves in Missouri. The following are two instances of his inexorable judgments. They took place in Hickory county:

"One Moore, was accused of stealing horses, in connection with others, and it seems his neighbors were the principal sufferers, and were determined to put a stop to it. Consequently, the country generally turned out, went to Moore's home, took him out, shot him all to pieces and left him. His remains were not found for two or three days, and were nearly eaten up by hogs. He was recognized only by his shoes. As a matter of course, no one knew who did the deed.

"Another man was disposed of in Hermitage, who is said to be implicated with Moore, by the name of Carroll Pitts. He declared his intention to die before he would be taken, and had a few friends to back him. He went to Hermitage attended by only one of his party, when fifty two of the opposite party rode up, surrounded and called on him to surrender, which he refused to do and started to run, whereupon he was fired on by the party and killed instantly, two balls passing through his head."

The General Bankrupt Law.

Synopsis of the Leading Features.

The jurisdiction in bankruptcy cases is given by the act to the several District Courts of the United States, with the United States Circuit Court acting in a supervisory capacity as Courts of Equity. The Judges of the District Courts will be assisted in the performance of their duties imposed upon them by registers in bankruptcy, who are required to be counsellors of those courts, or of some of the Courts of Record of their several States. The power of the Registers is limited, and provision is made for reference of disputed questions to the District Court Judges, and for appeals from the District Courts to the Circuit Courts, and from the latter, in cases where the matter in dispute shall exceed two thousand dollars, to the Supreme Court of the United States.

There are two kinds of bankruptcy contemplated by the act; voluntary and involuntary. In the former any person residing within the jurisdiction of the United States, owing over three hundred dollars, and finding himself insolvent, may apply by petition to the judge of the district in which he has resided for the six months preceding the date of the petition, or for the longest period during such six months, and shall thereupon be declared a bankrupt. The creditors, having been properly notified by the court, meet together and appoint one or more assignees of the estate of the debtor; the choice to be made by the greater part in value and in number of the creditors who have proved their debts, or in case of failure to agree, then by the District Judge, or where there are no opposing creditors, by the Register. The whole affairs of the bankrupt pass into the hands of the assignees, who have had powers granted them necessary for the collection of all debts and the final adjustment and closing up of the estate. Stringent regulations are made for the proper deposit and safe keeping of all moneys received from the estate; and where delay is likely to occur from litigation in the final distribution of the assets the court is empowered to direct their temporary investment. The bankrupt is liable at all times to be called up for examination on oath upon all matters relating to the disposal or condition of his property or to his business transactions, and for good cause shown his wife may in like manner be compelled to attend as a witness in the case.

In the distribution of the bankrupt's estate dividends are to be paid as agreed upon by a majority in value of the creditors, from time to time, at three months' intervals, but the following claims are first to be paid in full: First, the fees, costs and all expenses under the bankrupt act; second, all debts, taxes and assessments due to the United States; third, all State debts, taxes and assessments; wages due to any operative, clerk or house servant to an amount not exceeding fifty dollars for labor performed within six months preceding the bankruptcy; fifth, all debts due to any persons who are or may be entitled to preference by laws of the United States. The voluntary bankrupt is entitled to his discharge provided no fraud is proved against him, at any time from sixty days to one year after adjudication of bankruptcy; but the proof or discovery of any fraud or concealment deprives him of the right to discharge. No person who has once received his discharge is to be entitled again to become a voluntary bankrupt, unless his estate is sufficient to pay seventy per cent. on his debts, or unless three-fourths of his creditors assent in writing to his bankruptcy. Preferences and fraudulent conveyances are declared void by the act, and suitable provisions are made for the voluntary bankruptcy of partnerships and corporations.

The necessary household and kitchen furniture, and such other articles and necessaries of such bankrupt as the assignee shall designate and set apart, having reference in the amount to the family, condition and circumstances of the bankrupt, but altogether not to exceed in value, in any case, the sum of $500; and also the wearing apparel of such bankrupt, and that of his wife and children, and the uniform, arms and equipments of any person who is or has been a soldier in the militia or in the service of the United States; and such other property as now is or hereafter shall be exempted from attachment or seizure or levy on execution by the laws of the United States, and such other property, not included in the foregoing exceptions, as is exempted from levy and sale upon execution or other process or order of court, by the laws of the State in which the bankrupt has his domicile at the time of the commencement of the proceedings in bankruptcy to an amount not exceeding that allowed by such State exemption laws in force in the year 1864.

Acts of involuntary bankruptcy under the law are classified as follows: Departure or absence from the State where debts are owed, with intent to defraud the creditors; concealment to avoid service of process for the recovery of debt; concealment of property to avoid seizure on legal process; assignments designed to delay, defraud or hinder creditors; arrest and detention for seven days, under execution for a debt exceeding one hundred dollars; assignment, gift, confession of judgment, or any other act by which preference is given to any creditor, endorser or surety; dishonoring commercial paper, or suspending and not resuming payment for fourteen days. The petition for an adjudication of bankruptcy in such cases may come from one or more creditors whose debts reach two hundred and fifty dollars; but the petition must be brought within six months after the act of bankruptcy has been committed. In involuntary bankruptcy the proceedings are made more stringent than in the other description of cases. The penalty for any fraud or concealment, direct or indirect, under the act, is imprisonment, with or without hard labor, for a term not exceeding three years.

There are other details in the act, relating to the duties of the officers appointed and authorized under the law, the amount of fees, &c., which are interesting only as matter of detail.

Glorious News!

$100 ADDITIONAL BOUNTY!!

NEW BOUNTY LAW PASSED!

Attention, Discharged Soldiers!

The Act of Congress approved July 28, 1866, gives $100 additional bounty to all soldiers who enlisted for three years and were discharged by reason of expiration of service, or who were discharged for wounds received in battle and who have not received more than $100 bounty for such service. An additional bounty of $100 is also allowed to the nearest relative of soldiers who enlisted for a term of three years and who died or were killed in the service, to be paid in the following order: First, to the widow; second, to the children; third, to the father, and fourth, to the mother.

Soldiers' Widows.

By applying to W. H. Woods, of Huntingdon, Huntingdon county, Pa., you can have your pensions increased two dollars a month for each and every child you have, and when the widow has married or died, the children are entitled to the increase.

To all who have brought home the bodies of their friends who died or were killed in the service of the United States, there is a certain amount of compensation allowed you for the expenses incurred in bringing home the bodies of your friends, which you can obtain by making application to me.

Invalid Soldiers, Attention!

The act of Congress, approved June 6, 1866, gives additional pensions to the following class of persons:

Soldiers who have lost both eyes or both hands, $25 per month; who have lost both feet $20 per month; who have lost one hand or one foot, or totally disabled in the same, $15 per month.

Persons who have been deprived of their pensions in consequence of being in the civil service of the United States Government, can be restored to the pension roll by applying to me.

Fathers and mothers who were in whole or in part dependent upon their sons for support are entitled to a pension. Also brothers and sisters under sixteen years of age

All discharged soldiers who did not receive transportation to their places of enlistment when discharged, are entitled to receive it; and also all who were held as prisoners of war, and did not receive commutation of rations when released or discharged, are entitled to it.

Officers who were in the service on the 3d of March, 1865, and were discharged after the 9th of April, 1865, by applying to me can receive three months extra pay.

Soldiers of 1812!

All soldiers, or soldiers' widows, of the war of 1812, who have served two months, or been wounded or disabled in such service, if in necessitous circumstances, are entitled to an annuity of $40.

Local Bounty.

All veteran soldiers who gave their credit to districts in the State of Pennsylvania, and who received no local bounty, are entitled to receive three hundred dollars.

All persons having any of the above-mentioned claims, or any other kind of claim against the United States or State Governments, will please address me, giving full particulars, enclosing a stamp for return postage, and they will receive a prompt reply.

BROUGHER'S PATENT EXCELSIOR

BROOM HEAD OR WRAPPER.

PATENTED DECEMBER 26, 1866.

Everybody his own Broom Maker.

This head or Wrapper is constructed of Tin or Zinc, with sliding band and bolts, in connection with the centre bolt passing thro' the handle, holding it secure.

The article to which we call your attention is very simple, light and strong, weighing but SEVEN OUNCES.

The farming community have long needed an article of this character; and the high price of Brooms, together with the simplicity, durability, and practical utility of this invention makes it more saleable than any other art icle ever introduced.

☞ We offer borough, township, and family rights for sale on reasonable terms, in the county of Huntingdon.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

TO THE LADIES.—Do you really intend to cease wearing the beautiful styles now so prevalent, or dress less elegantly, because the rebel Jeff. Davis, was captured in Fashionable Female attire? One moment's calm reflection will surely serve to change your rash resolve. The angels had too much good sense to lay aside their pure chaste robes of white, because they had for a time served to hide the deformities of that Prince of Rebels, the Devil. Can you err in following the example of Angels? Then having made up your minds that you will continue to dress tastefully regardless of rebel acts, do not forget to call at the store of the subscribers, who will be happy at all times to furnish you with such articles of dress as you may desire. Urge your fathers, husbands, brothers, neighbors and children to visit the same store. They can here be suited in good articles of Boots, Shoes, Clothing Material, Hats, Caps, Queensware and a general assortment of Groceries, on as reasonable terms as at any House in town. Store on Southeast corner of the Diamond, Huntingdon, Pa.

PROF. J. H. M'ENTYRE'S GREAT REMEDY,

THE

INDIAN COMPOUND

Internal and External Medicine,

WILL CURE:

☞ Diarrhœa, Bloody Flux in one day,
☞ Headache and Earache in three minutes.
☞ Toothache in one minute.
☞ Neuralgia in five minutes,
☞ Sprains in twenty minutes,
☞ Sore Throat in ten minutes,
☞ Cholic and Cramp in five minutes,
☞ Rheumatism in one day,
☞ Pain in the Back or Side in ten minutes,
☞ Bad Coughs or Colds in one day,
☞ Fever and Ague in one day.
☞ Cures Deafness, Asthma, Piles,
☞ Bronchitis Affections, Dyspepsia,
☞ Inflammation of the Kidneys, Erysipelas,
☞ Liver Complaint and Palpitation of the Heart.

Keep it in your Families—Sickness comes when least expected.

I propose to check, and effectually dissipate more ache and pain, and to accomplish more perfect equilibrium of all the circulating fluids in the human system, than can be effected by any other, or all other methods of medical aid in the same space of time.

THIS POPULAR REMEDY is fast coming into use, for the fact that I cure, free of charge, all these complaints whenever there is an opportunity to do so. As soon as it is applied it almost miraculously kills the pain. I do not ask you to buy before you are certain of its efficiency. If you have an ache or pain, it is warranted to do all it purports on the label.

I do not propose to cure every disease—only a class named by my directions. My liniment operates on chemical and electric principles, and is, therefore, appliable, to the cure or natural restorative of all organic derangement arising from an improper circulation of the nerve vital fluids.

Prof. J. H. McEntyre's INDIAN COMPOUND acts directly on the absorbents, reducing glandular and other swellings in incredible short time, without any possible danger from its use under any possible circumstances.

This is an internal and external medicine—composed of roots, herbs and barks, such as our forefathers used.—There is a bountiful supply on earth to cure all complaints if we only know what they were.

This has been a great study with the Medical Faculty for many years, to find out the kinds best adapted to the above complaints—how to put them together, and what proportions to use. J. H. McENTYRE,
Proprietor, Reading, Pa.
